The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Examples of some unclear, inexact or verbose terms used in the specification are: the end of paragraphs 60,77,79 and 80.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: in claim 1, line 14, it appears --second--should be inserted before "amplifying" and in claim 4, lines 3,4,9 and 13, "degradation" should read --degeneration--.

Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yamamoto et al.

Refer to fig. 8 of Yamamoto et al. A2 and A3 are high and low gain amplifiers respectively that may be read on the first and second amplifying cells respectively of claim 1. M12 is an input matching circuit selectively activated (by switch SW1) when A2 is turned on for the high power mode. Thus M12 may be read as the selectively matching circuit claimed. Switch SW2 may be read as the first short circuit means claimed as it is connected between the input node (read as n2) and A3, the low power amp, read as the second amplifying cell above. Regarding the last paragraph of claim 1, matching circuit will match the driver to the amp A2 during high power mode (which will inherently result in max power) and allow zero power in low gain mode due to switch SW1 being off. See col. 10, line 9 to col. 11, line 43 of the disclosure of Yamamoto et al. Regarding claim 2, switch SW3 may be read as the claimed short circuit means.

Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

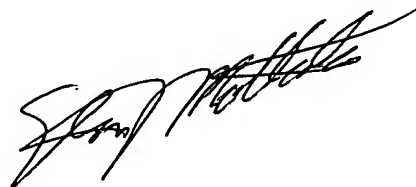

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Macedo adjusts matching circuits when an amplifier is bypassed but lacks the second amplifying cell claimed.
